SKATING.

Schoolboys.

Larry Barnett, who won the champion not only won the half mile race for schoolterday afternoon, but made a new record. York last night by the score of 42 to 11 chipped off the odd four-fifths of a second, making the time 1 minute 56 seconds. He started from scratch and managed to catch the limit man, who started from the 100 yard mark, one iap before the last. If he had been pushed on the last lap he would have undoubtedly made still better time.

Emmet Bird of Public School 87 won the midget race, as the event for boys under 100 pounds is called. He started from the 20 yard mark with Jean Dieuside on scratch. Max Banberger finished second and J. Anderson, another Public School 87 boy, was third. The summaries:

INTERNATIONAL GAMES. Trophy Shoot, 25 Targets-J. Smith, 19; R. No Action Taken Thus Far. Harvard Gran, 13; W. Skidmore, 17.

Manager Says Leon M. Little, manager of the Harvard

Leon M. Little, manager of the Harvard track team, who was in New York recently, said that this far no action has been taken by Harvard looking forward to an international meet, with Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard and Yale as contestants. He said that most of the Harvard men might well enjoy a trip to the other side, but no steps had been taken to bring it about

Last year attempts were made to arrange a meet, but in the spring they fell through, chiefly because there was re-eagerness on the part of the British universities to take part in the games. Since then, however, with the election of L. C. Hull, a Rhodes scholar, as president of the Oxford U. A. C. president, there has been a change in that attitude. This was taken to mean a good chance of an international meet in 1910 and Yale was reported last fall as intending to work up sentiment in favor of it.

It comes as a surprise to learn that no action has been taken. Some folks have an idea that it would be well to let a fair amount of time intervene, so that the unpleasant memories of the London Olympic games may have a chance to die sway altogether.

JOHNSON ACCUSES LANGFORD OF FRAMING A FAKE.

Intimates That Bout With Keichei Prevented Here Last Fall Was a Private Scheme to Divide $25,000-Present Wrangling May Disclose Other Things.

The proposed Jeffries-Johnson fight is causing so many wrangles that in due time, it is thought, the sporting public will receive some interesting inside facts. Joe Woodman, manager of Sam Langford. when he stated in Los Angeles the other day that Tex Bickard "sewed up" Jack Johnson after a secret confab in Pittaburg on November 23, did not realize that he was treading on dangerous ground. He told nothing new except that he made known the details of the bargain said to have been made by Rickard and Johnson regarding the acceptance of the Nevada man's bid for the mill. But Johnson has come back not only with a denial but also with a counter charge to the effect that Woodman had framed up a fake fight between Langford and Stanley Ketchel to be decided September at the Fairmont A. C. and that the trick would have gone through without a hitch but for the interference of the authorities.

Johnson insists that he knows what he is talking about, but he refuses to go fur-ther into the matter. When Ketchel and Langford were matched last summer there were rumors that the men had some secret understanding, but the Fairmont Club managers denied them. It was said that the pugilists agreed to divide $25,000 equally and "fight" ten rounds without trying for mill could be arranged for a bigger purse promoter. If any such agreement existed between the crack middleweights it is plain enough that they were ready to take part in a fake and the charge now made by Johnson serves to recall many suspicious details. One story circulated at the time related Ketchel's fear of a defeat at langford's hands because such a misfortune would kill all interest in the former's sub sequent mill with Johnson. Another yarn was to the effect that after making a secret agreement with Langford to stay ten round Furthermore it was common gossip that persons closely identified with Ketchel's manager and a California promoter succeeded in having the attention of Gov. Hughes called to the fact that the antiprizefight law was about to be violated.

The exchange of compliments between Johnson and Woodman therefore has disclosed some spicy topics, but they are believed to be of merely passing interest compared with the inside workings of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. The row between Promoters Gleason and Rickard has reached such a stage that sporting men were predicting yesterday that there would be explosion before long, the nature of which would startle the followers of pugilism all over the country. Jeffries insists that the fight will not be called off because of the mixup. If he sticks to Gleason and insists upon fighting in California while Johnson holds out for Rickard, who says he will keep the mill out of Gleason's State even if there is no chance to hold it in Utah, sporting men were willing to bet yesterday there would be no battle for the heavyweight championship of the world on July 4.

Gov. Spry of Utah finds himself in a decidedly odd predicament. While he was in the East recently he declared plainly enough that he would not permit Jeffries and Johnson to fight at Sait Lake City or anywhere else in his State. But since returning home Gov. Spry has learned that he practically stands alone in his opposition to the battle. He has received petitions from business men and persons identified with the Mormon faith urging him to give his censent and as a result he now declares that he must take time to look into the law on the subject. Utah's statutes permit boxing contests and those in favor of the big mill are trying to convince the Governor that Jeffries and Kohnson will box fortyfive rounds for scientific points. Will Utah's Governor therefore be made to see the difference between a boxing contest and a prizefight? Will he look into the case wearing the right kind of glasses? These are questions asked by the rival pugilists and their friends with Rickard supplying an affirmative answer in each instance. Gov. Spry of Utah finds himself in ecidedly odd predicament. While he we of C. W. Murphy, owner of the Cubs. Lynch intends to rule his organization in the way B. B. Johnson controls the American League. But conditions are somewhat different and Lynch has a hard struggle for supremacy ahead. Johnson in organizing the American League exercised care in digging up financial backers for the various clubs. He selected men who were ready to follow his leadership and back him up in all his policies. As a natural sequence Johnson and the American League are a unit, harmony prevailing at all times. The National League on the other hand has not had a real dictator at the head of it since W. A. Hulbert's time, more than thirty years ago. The club owners have never been checked and friction has been rampant. But Lynch, a czar on the ball field and a man of iron will, now steps to the front with a policy that if carried out will force the National League to refrain from tiresome quarrels in the newspapers. Lynch has several beligerent persons to deal with, not including Murphy, but he feels equal to the task.

Since Clark Griffith secured Pitchers Corridon and Covaleskie for the Reds the annual claim on the National League pennant has been filed by Cincinnati fans. The Porkville critics say the Reds will make the Pirates, Cubs and Giants look like schoolboys. In passing it is well to remember, say the fans of other cities, that Cincinnati, a member of the National League for twenty-five years, has never won a pennant.

PENN AND MICHIGAN.

Seven games figure on the schedule of the Michigan football team for the season of 1910. The date for the Penn game is given as November 12, but the place is not definitely settled. The Wolverines will meet a conference team again, as Minne sota will play at Ann Arbor on Novembe 19. The Syracuse game will be played away from Ann Arbor. Notre Dame again is on the list, but will be met only if Notre Dame plays under Michigan eligibility rules. The dates are:

RADICAL CHANGE SUGGESTED REGARDING INTERFERENCE.

al That No Player on the Side Hav ing the Ball Shall Pull, Push or Hold on His Feet the Man Running With the Ball-Alteration in Forward Pass

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 29.—Radical hanges in the football rules are to be proposed by Princeton at the meeting of the football rules committee in New York next Friday. The most sweeping change is that no player on the side having the ball shall "pull, push or hold on his feet the man running with the ball," Princeton's football authorities recently completed an extensive investigation and discovered that 90 per cent. of the rush line injuries came from interference of this kind. The an-nouncement of the committee follows:

"That seven men shall stand upon the line and that three of the backs shall stand at least five yards behind the line. Further, that no player of the side having the ball shall pull, push or hold on his feet the man

"It is believed that this change, which merely restores the game as it was before the introduction of momentum mass plays, will permit the invention and use of a variety of forms of interference, but that this interference will have to be minus the closely packed and interlocked mass of men which one man hitherto has had to meet. The prevention of the players from wrapping their arms about the runner and smashing him by sheer force through the line it is believed will eliminate 90 per cent. of the rush line injuries. "The committee will advocate in regard to forward passes that if this play is re-

over the line, that only two men of the pack of the control of the pack of passers' side shall be eligible to receive it

YALE SWIMMERS FAST.

Tney Defeat C. C. N. Y. in Every Event of Dual Meet.

The Yale swimming team overwhelmed the team of the College of the City of New York last night in the C. C. N. Y. pool by the score of 48 to 5. In the water pole contest the local sextet was immersed in an avalanche of goals to the tune of 25 points to 0. In every event the local swimmers looked like novices, the visitors walkan easy second piace. Nearly all the events resolved themselves into a cash for second place, with Yale the winner in all cases. The 800 foot relay was a farre, with Yale first and C. C. N. Y. nowhere.

Two interesting events were the fancy diving contest and the fifty yard swim. In the former it was close for second place between J. Kearin, C. C. N. Y., and C. Carey between J. Kearin, C. C. N. Y., and C. Carey of Yale. The Yale man obtained a favorable decision by two and a hast points. P. Stoddard's work in this event was very pretty and he won by a big margin. The fight for second place in the fifty yard swim was very close. M. Coughlin, C. C. N. Y., and M. Hichards, Yale, cleaving the water stroke for stroke the whole length of the pool. On the turn in the homestretch Coughlin because of his familiarity with the tank gained a slight advantage, but Richards quickly made up the loss and won the event by an arm's reach.
